NUMBER 24.

THE FARMER FEEDS THEM ALL.

From Monday's Daily.

On yesterday the president transmitted to congress the report and recommendation of the country life commission, together with a special message on the subject.

The commission held thirty public hearings, in which the farmers from forty different states were represented, and one hundred and twenty thousand replies were received from inquiries sent out by the department of agriculture.

The report brings home to us the importance of the farmer in our national life.

Do we realize that there are only two classes of people in the world: people who live on farms and people who live on farmers?

Do we realize that ever in the world's history there have been more farmers than there have been of all other people combined?

Think, then, that not a mill, mine, factory or shop, theatre or railroad could exist were it not for the farmer.

He furnishes the raw material from which our food and our clothes are made. All our luxuries represent the profit on the farmer's produce.

There is just one man and the earth in all this great problem of life. The earth yields a living to man and exacts his labors as her price.

The farmer applies his labor to the earth and brings forth grain and timber and wool and leather and meat.

Then the rest of us take what the farmer has wrested from nature's storehouse and giving him as little as possible in return, proceed to juggle with the fruit of the farmer's toil in order that we may each have an excuse for eating three meals, wearing clothes and sleeping sheltered.

The mines are needed to furnish materials for machinery to work up the farm product; for railroads and ships to haul it; to coin to measure it with; for wire with which to fence the land or upon which to telegraph market quotations.

The brokers gamble in it; the bankers loan on it; the lawyers argue about it; the judges split hairs over it; the doctors care for the bodies of the farmers and the rest of the world which is working over farm produce.

The preachers are paid out of the crops to take care of our souls.

Stop and think if you can conceive of a single human being—including hobos—whose very life does not depend daily, upon the skill and industry of the farmer. There is no one.

President Roosevelt did a real big thing when he appointed his country-life commission—and all the funny men half-soled a lot of old jokes about it.

This commission has reported that there are really only three great needs of the American farmer:

First—Cooperation or organization.

Second—A new kind of schools for country children; schools that will prepare the pupils for country life rather than for city life, and,

Third—Better means of communication; especially good roads and parcels post.

Organization will come when the farmer's children take at their real worth—or worthlessness—our jokes about farm life. When they see that we are only jealous. When the farmer realizes his dignity and independence.

The schools can be improved so that they fit a boy to judge rotation of crops as well as to keep a conductor's cash slip on a trolley car.

America will bloom, prosper and flourish in the same ratio that its people become tillers of the soil. When we can furnish the necessities of life to half the world we can all have more luxuries at home. When the fresh air of the fields is the breath of life to our children instead of the sickly vapor of the tenements the health of the nation will be robust.

When the farmer's boy and girl realize that in the city awaits them the crush of industrial competition.

ion, the mockery of artificial pleasure and the loss of human fellowship and neighborly love, then the "joy" joke will lose its savor.

But the farmer is entitled to opportunity, to recreation, to comfort. All of these he will have and he must also forge an end to the speculative holding of land or the stealing of water power or the wasting of the forests.

In the meantime city people will come to know that they have as much license to poke fun at the farmer as he has that other parasite, the flea; to jest at the good-natured mastiff, on whose warm nutritious body he is a trespasser without title.—Atlanta Journal.

SENATOR KNOX IS ELIGIBLE

Washington, Feb. 16.—In the opinion of President-elect Taft, Philander C. Knox is now legally eligible to receive the appointment of Secretary of State.

That he will be the premier in the Taft cabinet, was again positively stated by Mr. Taft tonight at the White House, the statement being made after two conferences to-day between the President-elect and Mr. Knox.

Mr. Taft went further and gave it as his opinion that no court could entertain an action based on the constitutionality of Mr. Knox's coming appointment for the reason that the first question that would arise in such a proceeding, would be whether Mr. Knox was a "de facto" of the government. This question, he maintained, would have to be answered in the affirmative, and there the proceeding would end.

KILLS POLICE CHIEF.

Cordell, Ga., Feb. 16.—Chief of Police W. H. Forrest was instantly killed to-night at 9:30 o'clock by Bert Cain. Cain at once surrendered to Sheriff Ward and was lodged in the county jail.

In the presence of a number of traveling salesmen in a local hotel lobby, Cain called the officer from the building and began firing upon him as soon as they had cleared the veranda. The first shot went wild; the second struck the officer squarely over the heart, going through the body. The officer is survived by a widow and two children.

Cain is a well-known young business man, 25 years old.

HOUSTON COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY.

RESOLUTIONS TOUCHING THE LIFE AND DEATH OF DR. J. R. G. HOWELL.

John Robert Graves Howell, was born near Echo, in Dale County, Alabama, October 8, 1862. He began the practice of medicine in Dothan, Alabama, October 24th, 1887; was President of the Henry County Medical Society in 1889, and Secretary and Treasurer of the Henry County Medical Society in 1895-96. He was Censor of the Henry County Medical Society for nine years.

He was the first President of the Houston County Medical Society. In 1901, at Selma, he was made a counsellor of the Alabama State Medical Association.

In 1903, he was made a Junior Vice President of the State Medical Association of Alabama, and Senior Vice President in 1904. From 1906 until his death he was a member of the State Board of Health, being one of the censors of the State Medical Association.

During all the epidemics of contagious diseases which have visited this country since his residence in Dothan he was at the head of the local Quarantine Service.

January 16th, 1909, this distinguished man obeyed the final summons, yielding his soul to the Author who gave it being. In deepest grief we offer the following resolutions, in memory of our beloved comrade:

First: That our profession has lost one of its most active and loyal and ethical members, who was ever alert for the interest and welfare of organized medicine, and who discharged the many official duties bestowed upon him with zeal and efficiency.

Second: That we are grateful for the great moral worth of our collaborator and we stand with an avowed head before the magnificent heroism with which he faced the journey to the Great Beyond.

Third: That it will afford us much gratification to see his son who is just entering our chosen profession measure up to the high mark of excellence so ably achieved by his father.

Fourth: That we extend our sympathy to his bereaved family. That these resolutions be printed by The Dothan Eagle, by the Mobile Medical Journal, and the Alabama Medical Journal. That a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Houston County Medical Society. That copies be furnished the members of his family and his brother and sister.

OUR NAVY WON'T PURCHASE POWDER MADE BY TRUSTS.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The Senate tonight agreed to the provision that no part of the appropriation for powder in the naval bill should be paid to any trust or combination in restraint of trade, or to any corporation having a monopoly in the manufacture or supply of gun powder, after amending it to read, "except in the event of war" instead of "in the event of an emergency."

INJUNCTION GRANTED AGAINST THE STATE.

Secretary of State Frank N. Johnson was in Birmingham yesterday, served with papers prohibiting the state from revoking the license of the Western Union Telegraph Co. The applications were made for an injunction before Judge Jones, to prevent the annulment of the license of the telegraph company, when it removes three cases from the state to the federal court.

The state law provides that in all cases where litigations of foreign corporations is moved from the state to the United States courts, the license of the corporation is so automatically revoked.

The case is set for a hearing February 23 at Birmingham.

NIAGARA FALLS CLOGGED WITH ICE.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 15.—July a tiny rivulet not deep or swift enough to carry a pulp log over the brink is flowing over the American falls. A strong north east wind which has blown since Friday has held back the water and allowed the ice to gain a foot hold.

A great wall of ice runs from the head of Goat Island to the American mainland and through which only tiny streams are able to trudge. This wall has even encroached on the Canadian channel, extending out some 200 feet beyond the third sister island and greatly diminishing the flow over the horse shoe. Only the very apex of the Canadian falls is left and that is robbed of half of its flow. The gorge below is choked and the rapids have lost their fury, while the whirlpool is barely in motion.

This is only the third time that ice has thus affected the falls since the white man came here. The other occasions were March 28, 1843 and March 22, 1903.

THIRD SQUADRON IS NEARING FLEET.

Navy Department Expects them To Meet Today.

Washington, Feb. 16.—It is believed at the navy department that the home-coming fleet and the third squadron, bound out to meet it, will meet today instead of to-morrow, as per schedule. According to the dispatches received last night, both divisions were nearing the meeting place.

Unless they deliberately maneuver they are bound to come together some time today if they keep up their cruising speed of from ten to twelve knots. The battleship fleet itself is within nearly four days' distance of Hampton Roads and it could make that port by Sunday if it desired.

Admiral Sperry will use the two extra days, however, for the fleet maneuvers with the entire combined fleet, so that the newly added squadron, commanded by Admiral Arnold, can maintain itself in fleet maneuvers with the other vessels that have had more than a year's practice.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The Spring Term of Houston County Circuit Court convenes here on Monday, April 26th. Return day of this term is April 6th.

MAY BE PARDONED.

Minneapolis, Feb. 14.—Application for a full pardon for Cole Younger, former member of the Jesse James gang, captured in the Northfield Bank raid, conditionally pardoned in 1903, after serving over a quarter of a century, was made to Governor Johnson by James R. Reed, formerly of Kansas City, Mo.

"Cole Younger is now engaged in the promotion of a railroad to his home in Lees Summit, Mo." writes Mr. Reed, "and because of the condition under which he now enjoys freedom, finds himself constantly embarrassed."

There is some debate as to the likelihood of the application receiving favorable consideration Younger having violated one of the conditions of his pardon, when he exhibited himself, a year ago in connection with a traveling show."

MORE HARM THAN GOOD.

Birmingham News.

A call has been issued in New York for a conference for the purpose of discussing the negro question. Aside from the amount of ignorance that will be manifested at this meeting, it will, as most of the meetings of this kind, do more harm than good. The less said and done in the North in this direction the better for the negro as well as the white man. The best way to solve the so-called negro question is to let it alone. That has been demonstrated time and again in the South as well as the North, and more especially in the North.

SHIPS FOR PACIFIC.

Should Keep One Half of Navy There.

Washington, Feb. 16.—One-half of the United States Navy should be kept on the Pacific coast at all times, in the opinion of the Senate.

An amendment to the naval bill was agreed tonight providing that in the discretion of the President one-half of the navy shall be kept in Pacific waters, so far as practicable. The President already has the authority to so divide the fleet, but the amendment amounts to an expression of Congress in favor of such action.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The funeral of the late Tillman Trotter will be preached at Bulah church, on the fourth Sunday in February, 28th inst.

All members of Camp Bartow are requested to attend these services and wear their badges.

NEGRO SHOOTS SHERIFF

Waycross, Ga., Feb. 16.—In an attempt to arrest a negro, six miles south of Carrollton, yesterday afternoon, Sheriff Jones and his son, Charles, were wounded by shots from the negro's pistol, while the latter was barricaded in a house. The negro escaped. The sheriff and his son are not thought to be dangerously wounded.

TEDDY'S ACHIEVEMENTS.

From a letter to the New York World.

On the Sunday before Roosevelt goes out of office please print in succinct form and in chronological order an epitome of the remarkable things he has done during his seven years as President, such as:

1. His interference in Central American affairs, sending warships to Panama, etc.
2. Settling anthracite coal strike.
3. Special messages to Congress denouncing individuals.
4. Booker Washington dinner.
5. Advising mothers of families.
6. Repealing Noah Webster.
7. Denouncing Jack London.
8. Sending White House blue-rooms (government property) to the basement and to the junk dealer.
9. Reinstating West Point cadets.
10. Naval parade at Oyster Bay for his own pleasure.
11. Reviving old English Naval laws.
12. Brief statement of facts of each initiation into the Abanis club.
13. His career as a non-trust buster—Paul Morton, Harriman, etc.
14. Licensing the purchase of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company.

A brief history of these and other doings of Roosevelt would be valuable to those who wish to refer to his administration from time to time, and ought to be embodied in the next World almanac.

SAYS WHITE RACE CAN'T STAND.

Sacramento, Feb. 15.—Assemblyman A. N. Drew of Fresno, who recently introduced an anti-slavery bill, preached at the Central Methodist church last night. He said:

"The history of the world teaches that the coming of the white and the yellow or the white and the black races always brings the white race down and never brings the yellow or the black race up. It results in a shiftless, mongrel race, that the world does not want."

"The South American countries were settled with the peoples of Spain and the negro blood and that is the thing that places the South American lands where they are."

"The Monroe doctrine was one of the most pernicious the world had ever known. The country teems with natural wealth, but the people who inhabit it are the most worthless in the world. And now the Monroe doctrine has crossed the continent to California. I submit to you that the white race never has and never can stand where the yellow or the black race nest."

"If conditions go on as they are now it will not be fifty years until the white race becomes the typewriters and the servants of the yellow. To compete with the yellow race the white man would starve to death."

J. S. Bustin, of Pansey, who here today, and told us to send him the paper again, for there was no use to try to get along without it.

Of course, there are two sides to everything, but the butter is on but one, usually.

A cracking good time need not necessarily mean that something extra dry was opened.

The weather man has softened down some, and is now showing us that he has all grades, if he didn't give us but one kind for some time.

When the ex-President gets over African way, he might go ashore at Liberia and be President there for awhile, just to show those fellows how it's done.

It is usually safest in an argument to admit that there is just a bare possibility that you don't know anything about the subject under discussion.

Paul Cook of the Age-Herald, and Phil Armstrong of the Advertiser may be as said a pair as the magazine articles say was Lincoln, but the stuff they write don't bear out such suspicion.

If we all saw things just alike, the judges would have to go right off and hunt another job, the lawyers would close up and might go fishing, the—but why go further? The world wouldn't be worth living in.

It is impossible to run a paper for any length of time without making somebody feel like you were doing them an injustice, by putting things in at times that don't appeal to their sense of reason or fair play.

damp from the wetting down the paper once received in preparing it for the old Washington press. Out of the many that come to this office less than half a dozen show this sign, and this, we take it, is a sign of better times, an indication that the newspaper men of Alabama are getting along in their business of publishing a paper.

is out, for we don't write near all that is in it, neither do we read all of the proofs, but we felt the need of a closer knowledge of what went in the paper the other day when a prominent citizen of Dothan, and a friend of ours made this request:

"I want to see a copy of your paper in which you claim that the Board of Stewards of the Foster Street Methodist Church failed to collect the preacher's salary, and that the preacher had turned the account over to an attorney for collection."

We looked at him again, and he still didn't seem to be joking, and then we asked him if he knew what issue the article was in. He said that his authority gave it as being in Friday's issue. That gave us time to rummage through the paper, before turning it over to him, and we felt relieved when we failed to find such a news item. We then turned over the files to him, and boldly denied any such statement, and told him to look it up. He failed to find it, or anything else that sounded in the least like it.

Looking for a long time as we have for little news items that might be of local interest, we thought it strange that such a piece of news could go through the paper, without our hearing more from it before the expiration of the day following. Then we remembered how little we knew of such a matter. We don't even know what salary is paid by the Foster Street Methodist Church; we don't know what is paid by the LaFayette Street Church or the First Baptist Church. Neither do we know what Headland Avenue Church pays; nor what the Presbyterians pay their preachers; nor do we know what the Episcopal preacher receives. We also lack information as to what Cherry Street Church pays, and have no idea of what Baptist Bottom pays a preacher—don't know what any of 'em get, but they all seem prosperous and happy, and if any of them ever had to employ a lawyer to collect their ~~past~~ due salaries, or put the account in the hands of a collection agency, such proceedings entirely escaped us.

Evidently somebody has been deceived, and this paper has been grossly misrepresented.

If you can tell us how such things got started, then we can probably tell you how it is that the editor is usually thought to be the biggest liar in town, regardless of averdupose.

It sometimes happens that we go out of the way to tell a lie, but mark you; whenever we do it, it is a lie that hurts no one. That is a fabrication appears on its face, and the youngest and most inexperienced reader is not deceived in it. When it comes down to lying, we can do it in such a way that it deceives on ~~one~~—even Dummy would give us the horse laugh. That is the brand of lying we make a specialty of.

Another man walked in the other day, and wanted to see the paper, wherein we said there wasn't a vacant house in Dothan. We denied that and allowed the fellow to go through the files till he saw that a mistake was abroad. At the time, the want columns held ads. for people who had houses to rent. Other wants showed that some people were wanting houses. This is no indication that we have any more vacant houses at one time than another; it may merely show the shifting, the moving around, that goes on in any live town; still we were being accused of making a statement through the paper that might have been made thirteen months ago, for all we know.

Just think of the proposition, to compel Brownsville and the nation to support murderers and the men who aided in concealing the murderers.—Birmingham Ledger.

The Best Fertilizers for Corn

That the yield of corn from the average farm can be greatly increased by intelligent and liberal fertilization has been repeatedly demonstrated. Large crops of good corn result from preparing the land well, using the right kind and quantity of fertilizer, good seed and proper cultivation.

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

will greatly "increase your yield per acre" of corn or any other crop. In some cases remarkable results have been obtained.

Mr. C. W. Caruthers of Sumpter County, Fla., writes: "Words cannot express the value of your fertilizer. It is really so far ahead of other companies' goods, that it would not pay anyone to use other brands, were they given free and put in the field. I can prove what I say to be a fact. I made a test on five acres. I used on one half the land your fertilizer and on the other half another company's fertilizer, same grade; the land received the same cultivation every time.

I kept a correct account of the amount of money I got off each half and I got $300 more from the land on which I used Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer than I did off the other half. I got four times as much corn from the land on which I used your fertilizer."

A KICK FROM THE CANAL ZONE.

The merchants, bankers and business men of Colon and Panama have sent the President a petition asking for relief from special privilege the government is enjoying in that zone.

They accuse the government of violating the treaty-rights. They say that the Government shouldn't allow its employes to buy all manner of stuff from governmental commissaries, on which no duty was paid. This, they claim, makes it impossible for anyone to do business in the canal zone outside of the government. The government reserved the right to ship all its supplies and necessities there, free from duty, but the business people down there, who happen not to be in the employ of the United States government, see no way of making a living, for all branches of trade are occupied by the government. When goods are shipped to other dealers, the duty is so high till they stand on the corners and watch the people go to the government stores for goods, when these stores don't even advertise in the local papers.

Then, there's a coupon system—the old commissary check system, possibly—which is a menace to good commercialism, and which these people claim, is gradually squeezing out all the business men not in the governmental department stores.

The petition takes up sixteen or eighteen printed pages, in book form, and looks something like the minutes of a negro association, (but reads different) with several hundred names signed at the bottom, all of which sound foreign, so foreign in fact, that but few American names can be recognized in the lot.

We are sure his excellency will be impressed when he comes to such prominent petitioners as "Artuo Kohpeke, Henriquez, Quelquejeu, Yeaza, Chong Chang, Pablo Menotti, and Wai On Teng Chang, Pablo Menotti, and Wai On Tsenn Chang, and Lap Hing Co., Lee Chong, Ah Kai, Tong Wo Tai & Co.

In the bunch, somewhere, we find the name of "J. Mahoney," and "Oldstein Bros.", both of which seem homelike; but the majority of these fellows won't stand much of a show on a petition to the President, and he fixing off to Africa as fast as he can. They ought to by all means, have had those names Americanized a little. It may be, however, that President-elect Taft, having just returned from the canal zone, will be able to understand it all, and give these people relief from the United States government. But we thought that the United States didn't propose to offer any special inducements for settlers until that ditch was running water, and that it made such arrangements as it thought necessary to complete the thing in the quickest possible manner, the different administrations and civil engineers' reports to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The petition concludes with the following (no doubt true) statements: "While we are not unmindful of the many improvements wrought in sanitary conditions by the efforts of the United States government, and our streets bear many of the outward signs of progress, yet, as a matter of fact, we are less prosperous now than we were in the worst days of the French enterprise when work on the canal was virtually at a standstill. We feel sure that this is neither the wish nor the intention of Your Excellency nor the American people, and we beg most respectfully to suggest the following remedies * * *."

The remedies suggested were, that the United States pay its employees in currency, instead of coupons; that commissary stores should import only such articles as are authorized to be sold at post cantines in the U. S.; that the Panama R. R. Co., of which the U. S. is the big stockholder, should not be allowed to give rebates on freights and discriminate against other shippers.

All of which sounds reasonable, and a little American, especially where they accuse this government of discriminating against other shippers, as so many of the railroads of this country have likewise been accused, from time to time. This is evidently an American enterprise, pure and simple.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO.

Under a suspension of rules the House unexpectedly and unanimously passed the bill granting separate statehood to Arizona and New Mexico. In the House the bill was not considered a party question, and if the Senate takes a like view of it the two territories will be granted statehood before March 4. Both parties are committed to the passing of the bill, and if some elder statesmen in the Senate is not alarmed by the possible appearance in that body of four new democratic Senators the bill will become a law.

It certainly should be passed. The two territories would have been admitted years ago if they had been considered republican in politics. They are at heart democratic, and the republicans have been unwilling to do them justice on this account. The course of the republicans in this matter has not been creditable or honorable or patriotic.

If Arizona and New Mexico become states there will be all told 48 stars on the national flag after July 4, and all the mainland territory will have been cut up into states. There will remain Alaska, Hawaii and the provinces of Guam, Samoa, Porto Rico, and the Philippines. Possibly Hawaii and Alaska may yet become states; so may Porto Rico after long tutelage, but no one now anticipates the transformation of our provinces into states. The Filipinos at heart desire independence, and our other provinces are not large enough to constitute states. Alaska will, however, become a state. It is full of mineral wealth and when it is well penetrated by railroads it will begin to seek statehood. It is safe to say it will become No. 49.—Age Herald.

REMOVED MARINES URGES SEN. HALE

Washington, Feb. 16.—Senator Hale today discussed the removal of the marines from the vessels of the navy. He took the same view that the President did, which is that the marines should be removed from the ships, believing that the navy would be benefited thereby.

130 MEN REPORTED ENTOMBED IN MINE

Newcastle, England, Feb. 16.—One hundred and thirty men are said to have been entombed by a colliery explosion in north-west Durham this afternoon.

We are ready to hear another supreme court decision, crushing a choice law of the last legislature.

HOUSE BURNED THIS MORNING.

ING.

A five-room vacant house was burned this morning about five o'clock, corner Lena and Washington streets, opposite Mr. Ben Payne's store.

The department responded to the call, but the fire had gained such headway that the house could not be saved after their arrival.

The property destroyed belonged to Dr. J. M. Stevens. Some insurance was carried upon the property, but we did not learn the amount.

The call of the department yesterday evening was caused by a crossed wire up near the Coast Line depot.

ACCEPTS ATLANTA MAN'S OFFER.

New Orleans, Feb. 17.—Mayor Behrman, of New Orleans has sent a letter to Captain W. G. Raoul, of Atlanta, Ga., accepting the captain's offer to return the death mask of Napoleon, which was taken from the city hall here many years ago. The matter of acknowledging the mask as a gift from Captain Raoul will be laid before the city council at its next meeting.

METHODIST MEETING.

Interest in the Meeting is Growing Daily.

Rev. T. J. Mangum preached a forceful sermon at the Foster St. M. E. Church last night, to a large congregation.

Rev. Mangum is one of the rising young preachers in the Alabama Conference. Go out and hear him. He will preach again tonight at 7:15, and also again tomorrow morning.

STEEPLEJACK FALLS TO DEATH AT PRATTVILLE.

Prattville, Ala., Feb. 17.—Just as W. D. McKelvey, a steeplejack from Pottstown, Pa., reached the top of a tank of the Autaugaville Oil and Fertilizer Company, he reached for the ladder which gave way, and he fell seventy-five feet to the ground below, being instantly killed. A telegram was sent to his mother, Mrs. Jeannette McKelvey, of Pottstown, Pa., as a letter was found from her in the dead man's pocket.

FOSTER ST.

BOTHAM, ALABAMA

A THOROUGH TRIAL.

Ninety-eight years ago a society was formed at Princeton, N. J., whose mission it was to gather up all the free negroes, and maybe others not so free, and ship them back to a section of Africa, where their grandparents came from, purely from a humanitarian standpoint. Not for the good of the negroes who were sent back, not that so much, but for the good those people would do for their savage brothers in the Dark continent. Within the first ten years of the society's organization, it succeeded in tolling off something like eighteen or twenty thousand American negroes. They were dumped off at Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, which is a territory about as big as Alabama and Florida, and which is rich in minerals, as well as being a part of the richest soil in Africa. And we always had an idea they had some pretty rich land in parts of Africa, where it had never been used to hurt. This land had valuable timber in the mountain forests and the earth yielded gold and silver, copper and iron, and the valleys and plains would produce cotton, tobacco, rice; while cattle and horses and ponies ran wild all over it. There were coffee trees fifty years old, bearing coffee, and there are probably still bearing it. Coffee grows on trees there, like money does, the farther west you go.

To make the colony an ideal one, some of the best teachers of the country were sent along to educate the savage man, and the savage man's church was demolished and set into school houses. The different religious denominations erected churches, and it did look for a while as if there wouldn't be a negro left untamed in Africa.

And you see negroes that went from America had been here long enough to get in touch of our way of doing things, having been raised here. So they set up a form of government something like ours, where they, being the election managers, got all the good offices, and it did look as if the arm of the United States was thrown around them for a time.

These negroes went to work, and tried to teach their savage brothers how to work and be great, and independent, and free, and to vote like other people. It that lot of negroes were some who had been educated and some who had been free, had enjoyed the blessings of civilization, though a slave part of the time. Now they were cut loose, with plenty of productive soil, plenty of timber, plenty of minerals, plenty of live stock (though a little wild, we admit) with a fairly good climate, a climate in which they could live about as well as at home—and much better than the New Jersey climate.

Now, that was nearly two hundred years ago, when the first ones were unloaded at Liberia, and the flourishing colony was formed.

You remember what President Roosevelt said to congress the other day. He didn't say much, but it meant much. He merely asked that some $20,000 or $25,000 be set aside, to fit out and pay the expenses of a commission to be sent over there to redeem that once-a-handful-of American negroes from the savagery of their brothers.

Ever since that colony was formed, from time to time, when an educated negro got a chance to give them the grand bounce, he would come home, if he had enough to come on—if not, he came steerage anyway. It is from such negroes that he train has been learned. They say that they could never impress it sufficiently in the minds of the natives in their school work, that it didn't look just right for the grown young women to come tripping into school every morning, wearing nothing in the world but a bramble briar tied in a bow knot around the waists. To the natives this looked alright, but the American brother, who had been doing service under the white man's direction all his life, thought it a sight, and was something that a few couldn't stand for, and they jumped the game, and gave up the idea of redeeming the people over there, called their brothers and sisters.

Those not so strong in the faith, who loved that free and easy life, soon quit school altogether, and went a-fishing.

As time rolled on matters grew worse, an American training seemed a long ways behind that of modern Liberia. The weather was mild, and they saw the need of little clothing; game was plentiful, and they felt no need of working any more than was necessary to catch a mess of fish, or slip up on a rabbit, or a possum, and break them down the loins with a stick. Soon they lost even the taste for cooked food, and as it was a lot of trouble to have to stop everything and cook dinner when one got hungry, they abandoned the cooking business except on rare occasions, as for instance when they wanted a rare steak. They finally got to the point where they didn't care much what the steak came off, just so it was fat and fresh. At last it got so, when the count was made at night, it was a common thing to find one of the children missing, and then a fat grown negro was liable to be absent from his place at roll call. So one could not blame those American negroes, who jumped the land of their nativity, as you might say, and came home before they acquired an appetite for some member of the family, and ate them up for breakfast some morning.

That, in round numbers, is a rough, free-hand drawing of an hundred years' effort at self-government, where no white man stood by to help keep tab and give directions, and establish precedents.

Africa can be brought in to a sort of state of civilization, possibly, but it will be when the white man lays down his work and goes over there and camps on the job. A negro is a fool to go over there and try it, and we don't blame those who returned for loving home, for, like ourselves, this is all the home they know.

ABOUT PREACHING.

Don't be afraid to walk right up and join the crowd you see on the streets of Dothan these days. No political argument is going on, no boys are found with chips on their shoulders and blood in their eyes, no dogs will be found fighting; neither will you see the man lying in an epileptic state with a doctor bending over him, nor will you see the man in the center sticking a fifteen inch dirk through his wrist before the goes to selling razors at a dollar each. None of these highly cultured and modern educational institutions will be on exhibition. Ten to one, you will find a preacher in the middle of that crowd gyrating on a new passage of scripture that he will tell you, your pastor has overlooked, and that he was directed to it by forces he could not explain. He will hand the home preachers a hot one, just to see a smile go up from a few tight wads in the crowd.

This is probably the best preached town in Alabama, and a ten minutes' walk will put a citizen convenient to as many pulpits as he needs on any Sabbath day; but that don't keep the itinerants from blockading street traffic, and filling a healthy, sunshiny atmosphere full of new sects and dogmas.

Only about one in every 750 of this class of preachers could earn over $1.15 a day at anything, and they would have to be a better guano distributor than they look, to even earn that amount. If they teach anything, it is how to live without doing real work.

There's some fine line of distinction between the man who holds up the crowd on the street, and the man who calls at the back door for a hand-out, but we are afraid to try to draw it here. Both get along on their wits; one may start to work on the wood pile, and stay by it till you go into the house to wash the dishes, and the other gives work the lie, and tries to argue it out.

The Salvation Army are doing a world of good in the cities, and it is known far and wide that they are helping humanity to stand on its feet, and because of this, they are imposed upon by a class of street preachers who ought to be guiding the destinies of a Dixie in a big quiet, open field where the blue smoke is lazily rising from the burning log-heaps, and the blue birds sing a song of mating from the top of every stump.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By Virtue of a Writ of Venditioni Exponas, issued out of Circuit Court of Houston County, Alabama, and to me directed where I am commanded to sell the property hereinafter described, to satisfy a certain judgment recently obtained against N. J. Hutto, in favor of R. L. Stough & M. D. Hornsby, Partners under the firm & Hornsby, to wit:

One house and lot in the town of Dothan, described as follows, to wit: Bounded on the North and East by the Atlantic Compress Co lot, South by Atlantic Compress Company lot and John Chalker lot, West by Oates street; containing one-half acre more or less, and being a part of S. E. quarter of S. W. quarter, Section 13, Township 3, Range 26.

Therefore, according to said command, I shall expose for sale at Public Auction, all the right, title and interest of the above named in and to the above described property, on the 22 day of February, 1909, during the legal hours of sale, at Dothan, in front of the Courthouse door in Houston County, Alabama.

Dated at Dothan this 20th day of January, 1909.

T. W. BUTLER,
Sheriff of Houston County, Alabama.

ABOUT IRISH POTATOES.

We have the Green Mountain Potato, which is noted for its whiteness, its goodness, and then the best thing of all is, that it's early. It is the earliest potato on the market.

This Potato is grown north of the bug line, and when planted here, the bugs do not bother them.

From Tuesday's Daily.

Mrs. M. A. Faulk leaves tomorrow for St. Louis, where she goes to buy her spring millinery. Rain and much colder tonight. Cold wave in south portion. Tuesday fair and colder.

Miss Susie Layfield has returned to the city after spending several weeks with her parents in Columbus, and will resume her duties as teacher in the Dothan Business College.

SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Newton will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Wednesday the 24th of this month.

A windstorm of considerable force swept over Montgomery county night before last, doing considerable damage by blowing down houses, fences and etc. Several persons are reported to have been killed. Montgomery county seems to have become somewhat of a storm center of late.

At a meeting of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church yesterday afternoon, six new deacons were recommended for election and ordination. The honored brethren were, T. J. Whatley, Dr. W. C. Howell, J. L. Ward, Dr. M. S. Davie, M. Cherry and C. C. Bennett. The ordination of these gentlemen will take place on an early date.

The First Baptist Church moves on with an enthusiasm that is commendable.

THE RAIN.

For months and months we have been crying out for rain. We have sections of the wire-grass right here in Houston county where they have been hauling water in barrels a distance of five miles, and have been doing this too, for a period of several months, never in the history of this country has this before been the case, and one knows not what this means, unless he has experienced it. Now, we have rain that is giving the ground a wetting such as it hasn't had since last spring. It has been falling just in the right way, falling in such a manner as to be taken up by old mother earth; and when it stops there will be no excuse. The ground will be wet enough to plow; the wells will have water in them; the branches and creeks will be running again, and all will be lovely.

GEORGIA SHERIFF HERE.

J. L. Dollar, of Grady County Georgia, came over here yesterday and left this morning, with a prisoner who was taken up here as a suspect.

Sheriff Butler found a man by name of John Barrentine as night watchman at the Dothan Variety Works, whom he suspected of being the man wanted for assault with attempt to murder. The man was going under an assumed name here, his right name being John Harper. Harper was confined in Grady County jail and broke out of that prison last September. He was charged with wife beating.

Dear Sirs:—Your Agent, Mr. J. W. Burkett has handed me your check for One Thousand Dollars in payment of the policy for One Thousand Dollars on my husband's life, which was taken out about one year ago. I wish to thank you for the prompt settlement of his policy which he had only long enough to pay two premiums on.

Yours very truly,

Mrs. Ole Granger.

Isaac Brackin Salve Cures Old Sores

This salve has been made half a century, and is only made to cure old sores. If it fails, you return the box to the druggist and get your money back. If it was ever applied to an old sore according to directions and failed to cure it the failure was never reported. Buy a box and give it a fair trial.

RELATION OF WATER POWER TO THE FUTURE OF THE RACE.

The severest critic of modern commercial tendencies must recognize that increase in the world's wealth, said to have doubled in its generation, has contributed much that makes for the moral uplifting of mankind; as for instance, opportunity for education, less arduous toil, shorter hours of labor, more leisure and recreation, free interchange of thought, sanitary homes, appropriate clothing and a diversified and plentiful diet.

In view of this and because the civilized people and the tribes in direct contact with them are increasing at a rate which will double their number every sixty-five years, and because, furthermore, that, of the human family, sixty per cent are semi-civilized, or in savagery, unsupplied with material comforts, it is possible that it is now the dawn and not the noon of man's busy day.

Modern consuming industrial activity of the civilized people is awakening in many nations the idea of the conservation of the natural resources, which are already being consumed at such a rate that their end is in sight. Whether this period of rapid development will soon reach its zenith, or will follow an ever ascending curve of material accretion into an indefinite future is a question, the answer of which depends in part upon the relation of water powers to the future of the race.

An industrial age, first and foremost, must be an age of power transformation. Increased production of raw materials involves the use of more power in winning them from their original condition; likewise more manufactured products demand more power for their fabrication. Greater activity in transportation is also at the expense of more power. The growth of cities, with their electric lights, water supply and transportation systems, increases greatly the per capita demand for power.

To what ever degree may grow production, transportation and the enjoyment of material comfort, to even a greater extent will grow the use of power. But power development today has one ominous significance on account of its being effected almost exclusively by the consumption of a warning supply of coal.

For the first time that man has occupied the earth, it dawns upon his quickened intelligence that the cunning of his brain and the strength of his unguided hand is tearing down more rapidly than nature restores, and that the time has arrived when the civilized people must safeguard the natural resources of earth against inevitable and everlasting destruction.

Water powers, like the soil, are the basis upon which all valuations depend, and intelligent forestry will conserve both, insure the timber supply indefinitely; prevent the erosion and destruction of the soil and fix the atmospheric nitrogen so that intelligent manipulation of crops will maintain the food supply. Water powers are eternal and will exist as long as the sun shall shine and moisture is evaporated and transported by wind, congealed by cold and pressure, and precipitated upon the land by gravity. Man can, however, indirectly, but none the less disastrously, ruin the utility of water powers by destroying the forests which store the rain at the stream sources, protect the surface from erosion, and the valleys and reservoirs from deposition.

The use of various combined substances will relieve their natural prototypes. The application of new types of structural material, such as Portland cement, and the wider use of other materials and their alloys, may put forth the death of iron indefinitely. But every tendency is toward increase rather than diminished use of power. Coal is the source of the greater part of power used today, and supply is decreasing so rapidly that the burden must be shifted to some other source.

Here, then, is the aspect in which water powers present their profoundest importance. They are the only known great future sources of an age of much increased lavish expenditure of power and have the only distinguishing characteristic in that they waste only in their non-use. Every year of idleness means the exhaustion of a comparable amount of coal, iron, timber and other materials, the loss of which can never be recovered, and water power must, therefore, be looked upon as having equal importance with the soil in relation to the future of our race.

A TALK TO THE NEGROES.

President-elect Tait in a talk to the negroes in New Orleans last week, gave them some good advice.

Mr. Taft declaring his desire to be "the President of all the people" and adding that he wanted to make a plain, common sense non-political talk, told the hearers that their past history had been remarkable in showing their capacity to develop, that their future depended not on emotionalism, but upon individual character building which meant hard work and thrift. To make themselves indispensable to the people of the community in which they lived, was, he declared with emphasis, the only final solution of the problem which they faced. He ridiculed the idea of transporting the negroes to any other country, asking where was the place the ten millions of that race now here could be placed. Education, industrial and rudimentary, for the great masses, and higher and special for the leaders, he advocated, but one emphatic and repeated incentive was that individual endeavor should be made the governing rule of character.

A to the dealing with crime he said that if the negro wanted a square deal in that respect he must be willing to give a square deal, and be as earnest and zealous in the punishment of the crimes of the negro as any other."

DISASTROUS THEATRE FIRE.

Mexico City, Feb. 15.—Between 250 and 300 persons were burned to death and many were injured in a fire which destroyed the Flores Theatre in the city of Acapulco.

last night.

The news of the disaster reached this capital this afternoon, telegraphic communication with Acapulco having been destroyed owing to the fact that the telegraph offices adjoining the theatre were burned and all wires put out of commission.

The floor of the theatre was a wooden affair and last night over 1,000 persons crowded into it to witness a special performance given in honor of Governor Damian Flores of the State of Guerrero, who was visiting the port at the time.

One of the numbers on the program consisted of a series of moving pictures. While the operator was exhibiting these a film caught fire and a blaze was quickly communicated to some bunting that had been used for decorative purposes. In an incredibly short time the flames had spread to all parts of the structure. There were but three narrow exits and the panic-stricken audience rushed to these, many falling and being crushed to death, their bodies choking the way to escape to others.

PRESIDENT GOES TO CELL TO PROTECT DEPOSITS.

Houston, Tex., Feb. 15.—Every night for a month Carl Summers, employed by the State Bank of Bishop, at a salary of $50 a month to serve for the purpose, has been locked in the cell of the Bishop County jail with the funds of the bank in his possession for safe-keeping.

Now he is on a strike and the officials of the institution are compelled to buy a vault. The first day's deposits of the new bank were large and at night the money was laid away in a strong box. The president tried to lock the vault door and could not. Something had to be done and so Summers was hired to go to jail with $50,000.

In the morning the "prisoner," with the money, was released.

All went well until Summers was invited to take dinner with the family of the girl he is going to marry. The bank president was willing to wait up, but the sheriff would not.

Summers quit without further notice and that night the president with his pockets stuffed with bills sat up in jail himself.
